Family upset as attacker is given early jail release

BY LUI STRACCIA
lui.straccia@lutononsunday.co.uk

A THUG who beat up a one-legged woman and put her in hospital for a week served only a quarter of his sentence as he is of 'low risk' to the public.

Wajid Aziz, 30, punched Tazim Akhtar in the head, breaking her cheekbone and knocking her to the ground unconscious before kicking her in the stomach in a brutal attack in Rothesay Road, Luton, 12 months ago.

To this day Mrs Akhtar, who has used a prosthetic limb to walk since having her right leg amputated just above the knee four years due to a gangrenous infection, still suffers from dizzy spells and nausea and is too afraid to go out for walks as a result of the assault, in which her son Urfan Arif was also attacked. Aziz was jailed for 20 weeks on June 19 after being found guilty by trial at Bedford Magistrates' Court of two counts of assault by beating. But this week Mrs Akhtar was devastated to learn he was released after just five weeks on tag under the Home Detention Curfew (HDC) scheme after his prison governor decided he poses 'no significant risk' to the public.

Mrs Akhtar, 42, who had nightmares and screamed in her sleep in the months following the attack, said: "I'm frightened of him. My home has become my prison. My life has been turned upside down.

"I used to go out walking, but not now. I lost a leg and even that didn't stop me going for walks, but this man has."

What compounded the victim's distress was that they only realised Aziz had been let out early after he was spotted walking down a road in Luton.

They were not notified of the early release by any of the authorities - even though as part of Aziz's sentencing he was given a restraining order not to contact either of Mrs Akhtar or her son for five years - because the Victim Liaison Scheme is only available in cases where the offender has been sentenced to 12 months or more.

Mr Arif said: "I felt physically sick when I found out. It's an injustice, and we should have been told by the authorities. My mum is so upset. The thing she was holding on to was the length of the sentence. It's a kick in the teeth for us."

Ministry of Justice spokesperson said: "HDC is available to low risk prisoners serving sentences of more than three months and less than four years, who are deemed appropriate."

"To be placed on HDC, a prisoner must have served a quarter of their sentence."

"If a prison governor thinks there is a significant risk to the public, or risk of re-offending on HDC, then the release will not be granted."

"We do not publish risk assessments as they contain personal and sensitive information. To do so would undermine the ability of the relevant authorities to carry out frank and robust assessments, and to successfully manage offenders in the community. It would also contravene the Data Protection Act."

No action taken over 'offensive' BNP leaflets

BY LAUREN ARCHELL
lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

A FORMER MP candidate has said that she is shocked that no action is being taken against a British National Party leaflet that she believes is 'racist'.

Linda Jack, of Furze Close, Luton, said she was disgusted when the leaflet came through the door early last Sunday morning, and branded its literature 'nasty' and 'offensive'.

Under the title 'Racist Muslim Paedophilia', the content read: 'The facts of the matter are that the 'Pedostani' gangs could not have got away with their sick and evil crimes for so long had the establishment not turned a blind eye.'

Ms Jack, who stood as the Liberal Democrat Parliamentary candidate for Luton North in 2005, said: "I felt that this leaflet was highly offensive, misleading and in my view constituted a hate crime as I believed it was racist."

"I think that the leaflet as a whole was racist as I felt it attempted to conflate paedophilia with Islam and Pakistanis in particular."

"I called Bedfordshire Police on Sunday and an officer came to see me on Tuesday to discuss my concerns."

"She took the leaflet away for it to be looked at, but to learn that no

UPSET: Linda Jack with the leaflet laws have been broken is shocking.

"When you think about all the recent issues with what people have said on social media websites like Twitter and Facebook, I can't see how this is much different to be honest."

"It might be that the content of leaflets like this should be looked at more seriously."

A Bedfordshire Police spokesman said: "The BNP is a properly constituted political group and while some people find their literature distasteful and/or offensive, it does not actually transgress the law."

"It should also be remembered that the Human Rights Act provides all with a right to express their views in a lawful manner."

"The leaflet was taken away by a member of the Local Policing Team and was shown to the Community Cohesion Officer, and both deemed it not to break the law."

BNP East Region Organiser Steve Squires said: "If the content of our leaflet broke the law we'd have the police knocking on our door, but we're a political party and don't have any interest in breaking the law."

"Our leaflets are hard-hitting, but sometimes the truth needs to be hard-hitting. Yet again we're being demonised."

A VAN driver lost his precious cargo on Thursday while driving on the A6 near Barton as he went round a roundabout.

The bottles of gin and vodka slid off his vehicle and on to the road, as you can see in this picture taken by eagle-eyed Central Bedfordshire Councillor Richard Stay, who aptly commented on his blog that this was 'one way to get smashed'.

Cops' mileage up

POLICE staff have clocked up more than double the miles since they began collaborating with a neighbouring force, new figures have revealed.

A Freedom of Information Act request submitted by Luton on Sunday shows that Bedfordshire Police drove 197,695 miles for the year 2011-12 compared to 84,372 in the year 2008-9 - the year they began joining units with Hertfordshire Constabulary.

The travels cost for our force have also shot up in that period. Between 2008 and 2009 £33,748 was claimed for mileage but in 2011-12 the force spent £88,154. The biggest rise in mileage sums was between 2010-11 and 2011-12 where travelling expenses increased by £49,000.

In total the combined mileage claims of both forces cost more than £800k since merging units in 2008.

Worker's £28k bonus to remain with council

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A COUNCIL has paid out £28,000 in a 'retention and recruitment allowance' to one worker.

In the year up to March 31, Luton Borough Council made payments in excess of £4,000 to 115 staff members and, of those, four received more than £8,000. The highest individual payment was £28,000 - which is £15,855 more than the minimum annual salary of £12,145 offered by the authority.

Retention and recruitment allowances are paid to keep staff in 'hard to fill' jobs. These are roles that might be proving difficult to recruit for or positions where there is a national shortage.

Last month we revealed that around £744,000 had been paid to keep staff in 'hard to fill' jobs and at the time the move was criticised by Jimmy Cummings, a senior representative from the trade union Unite.

He said: "It is morally wrong to continue to make extra payments to those employed in higher grades, when the £250 a year pay rise for lower grade, as approved by the Chancellor George Osborne has not been paid to Luton Borough Council workers.

"People are struggling on the lower pay grades and the £250 would be of great benefit to them."

"We can't continue to have this kind of perk while people are being thrown out of their jobs, and there is no shred of evidence that would support the continuation of payments being made as they are currently."

The news comes at a time when the council has been making redundancies and is currently undertaking a public consultation on its financial plans.

When Luton on Sunday asked if the council could reveal the job titles of the individuals who received the payments, a spokeswoman said: "We are unable to respond to questions where individuals could be easily identified."

She added: "The vast majority of employees who received a recruitment and retention allowance of more than £4,000 are social workers. This is because surrounding employees pay a higher rate than Luton."

Mum has refused to go back to Lanzarote

A LUTON-born mum has defied a court order which says that she must leave the country and return to Lanzarote.

On July 29, Luton on Sunday reported that Marie Roche (pictured), 33, was being forced to leave the country under a European Law, after she fled from the Canary Island with her four-year-old son to escape a relationship she claims was abusive.

The High Court decided that Miss Roche would have to return to the sunshine island by last Tuesday under The Hague Abduction Convention. But she did not obey the order and has refused to go back.

She said: "I'm a mother and I know what is best for my son so I couldn't put us both back in that situation again."

"I didn't leave Lanzarote on a whim, I left because I didn't think it was safe."

"I haven't heard anything since I decided not to go."

"It's been a bit strange, I'm sat around waiting for a knock at the door or someone to come and speak to me about it."

"No one has mentioned to me what the consequences could be for defying the High Court order, so I don't know what to expect."

Marie's father, John, who she is staying with in Nursery Road, Luton, said: "I am 100 per cent behind my daughter in her decision not to leave the country."

"Sometimes the only way to get people to listen and to get things changed, is to fight, and by not going back Marie is fighting."

A Ministry of Justice spokesman said: "We take every case of international parental child disputes very seriously and the Government works with other countries to help resolve cases in the best interests of the children involved as quickly as possible."

"It will be down to the court to decide what action they will take."

Benefits cheat claimed more than £10k

A MAN has been ordered to repay more than £10,000 after being found guilty of benefit fraud.

Sajid Mahmood, 39, of Chatsworth Road, Luton, appeared at Luton Magistrates' Court on August 3 for sentencing after previously pleading guilty to three charges of furnishing false and misleading documents to obtain benefit.

The court sentenced Mahmood to a 12-month Community Order and 120 hours unpaid community work. He was also ordered to pay £220 towards prosecution costs.

He was also told to repay the £10,771 he dishonestly claimed to the Department of Work (DWP) and Pensions and the council.

A joint investigation between the DWP and the council's audit and investigations team found that Mahmood was claiming income support and council tax benefit but failed to tell the benefit authorities he owned a second property and rented it to his father-in-law.

Cllr Robin Harris said: "The benefit system is designed to help people who would otherwise be living in significant poverty.

"The system does not exist to line the pockets of those in a relatively privileged situation."

Incy wincy spider discovered in pizza

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

A PIZZA-lover was horrified to discover a spider which had been cooked in her takeaway meal.

Theresa Davis, 28, of Cussen Place, Luton, ordered the 'Sizzling Chicken' pizza, among others, from the Pizza Hut Delivery in Marsh Road, Luton.

Having saved the food for the following day, Miss Davis was shocked when her sister, Grace, 15, got the box out of the fridge for a snack and discovered the small spider in the middle of the cheese.

She then says she took the item back to the shop but was refused a refund, instead being offered a new pizza.

Following tests, Pizza Hut confirmed the spider had actually been cooked in its oven after Miss Davis sent the pizza to the company to carry out its own internal investigation.

Miss Davis said: "I'm absolutely

DISGUSTED: Theresa Davis and the bug in the pizza, left disgusted that this has happened. The spider could not have possibly got into the since it's been in our possession - it's been cooked into the cheese.

"Being offered a new pizza isn't good enough, I wouldn't want to eat anything from there again."

A spokesman for the franchisee that operates Pizza Hut Delivery in Luton said: "We're very sorry for Miss Davis's experience.

"Pizza Hut has strict procedures in place at all stages of the food preparation process and our Marsh Road store received four stars on its most recent food hygiene inspection. However it seems on this rare occasion that our high standards were not met.

"We have apologised to Miss Davis and have retrained our staff to ensure this doesn't happen again."

New deal signed to manage the airport

THE company that runs the airport has extended its contract with its owners.

London Luton Airport Limited (LLAL) and London Luton Airport Operations Limited (LLAOL) have signed a deal to take them through to 2031.

The contract follows the signing of a head of terms commercial agreement by the two parties in June and the decision by the airport's owner, Luton Borough Council, and operator to integrate LLAL's futureLuToN:Optimisation programme with LLAOL's plans to increase passenger capacity.

A planning application later this year will be lodged by LLAOL and will be subject to the statutory consultation process including public consultation, and any increase in capacity at the airport will use the existing runway.

Resident hits out over dumped waste

BY LAUREN ARCHELL
lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

ENFORCEMENT action could be taken after a huge amount of rubbish was left dumped outside a block of flats.

The pile of sofas, beds and general waste appeared in the private car park of a building in Park Street, Luton, last week (pictured).

It is believed that the waste has been left there after refurbishments to the building took place, but it is unknown who owns the property.

One resident, who we agreed not to name, said: "It's disgusting."

"I don't know how it got there or who has dumped it there but it just looks awful."

"There's broken wood, wardrobes, nails - it's just a pile of household waste."

"It's not nice to look at, but more importantly it's dangerous - it's close to our fire escape and heaven forbid there was an incident it could slow people getting out."

A council spokesman said: "Our enforcement officer visited the site on Friday and there is a large pile of waste at the rear of the building in the private car park, but it appears it is from the building being refurbished."

"We have not received any complaints about flytipping at this location."

"However, an officer will visit the site again in a week's time to see if the waste has been removed and to assess whether enforcement action is required."

Plumber died from asbestos exposure

A PLUMBER died after contracting an asbestos related disease, an inquest heard this week.

John Gray, 65, of Roman Road, Barton-le-Clay, died on July 10 after suffering from mesothelioma, a disease related with exposure to asbestos.

An inquest at Bedford Coroner's Court on Tuesday heard how Mr Gray previously worked in the cold water tank business as a plumber, and it was very likely that he was exposed to the harmful substance before it was known to be dangerous.

Coroner David Morris recorded a verdict of death by occupational disease.

Town under fire over airport expansion bid

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carlmungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A GROUP campaigning against the expansion plans for the airport has hit out at a neighbouring town for not opposing the proposals strongly enough.

The Luton and District Association for the Control of Aircraft Noise (LADACAN) said the plans to expand capacity at Luton Airport from 10 million to 18 million passengers per year are 'not being taken seriously enough' by Harpenden Town Council and the Harpenden Society.

John Davis (pictured), from LADACAN, said: "Planes routinely overfly Harpenden especially when the wind is in the east."

"The expansion plans as we understand them will increase the frequency of flights in the early morning rush between 6am and 7.30am from one every two to three minutes to one every 90 seconds. This is a real concern to people who live under the path these planes currently take.

"The B653 going towards Luton, especially through the narrow section at Batford, would be almost impossible to widen due to existing housing, and significant extra passenger journeys could gridlock this already busy road."

"With a further round of consultation due in September, and a planning application in November, now is the time for people to take this seriously."

"The A505 brings in substantial airport traffic and would also be affected, plus the High Street and A1081."

"Rail services are becoming almost tolerable again in rush hour thanks to 12-car trains – but what will happen if hundreds more arriving passengers get on upstream at Luton Airport parkway?"

Nicola Linacre, Harpenden Town Mayor, said: "Harpenden Town Council takes very seriously the proposed expansion of Luton Airport and will undertake a full exercise to respond to the application in the next round of consultations due next month."

"The council's response to the last consultation exercise was to object to the proposed increased capacity to 18mppa."

"We believe there are fundamental problems with the proposed expansion of Luton Airport, which centre mainly around noise, congestion on our local roads and overcrowding on trains."

A spokesman from the airport declined to comment on LADACAN's claims.

TWO men have been charged with grievous bodily harm after a man was found with serious head injuries on Tuesday night.

Janusz Przysanski, 48, and Konrad Kaczysky, 30, of Stockwood Crescent, Luton, were charged on Friday following the incident at their home.

Pair charged with GBH

They appeared at Luton Magistrates' Court on the same day.

Three other people arrested on Tuesday night have been released without charge.

The victim, believed to be a 51-year-old Polish man, is currently critically ill at the Lister Hospital in London.

Plans to bring crime down

SIR - All Labour Party campaigns are negative, and in the case of the Police Crime Commissioners it is no different.

In a recent article their candidate attacks the Government on the police budgets having to be reduced. Nobody likes to see the number of police reduced but the Labour Party live in an Alice In Wonderland bubble, ignoring the fact that they left a deficit of £165,000,000,000; bigger than Spain, Portugal, Ireland and Greece put together. Without swift action by the Conservative Government in June 2010 there would have been cuts of 40-50 per cent.

To bring this into perspective, under Labour, for every £4 spent by Government, £1 was borrowed.

Our debt got so big we were spending £120,000,000 every day just paying the interest.

It is not all doom and gloom though, with a £6.3 million reduction in funding, the leaner Bedfordshire Police have achieved tremendous results.

In a report published at the beginning of this year Bedfordshire Police Authority has shown a significant cut in crime.

With the force having to deal with cuts to their budget they were awarded the level three 'good rating' by a HMIC inspection report last year, one of only five police authorities to be assessed so highly.

In particular the report highlighted the 'authority's mechanisms for challenging how it secures economy, efficiency and effectiveness'.

The figures show that overall crime levels were reduced. In particular the number of burglaries have equated to three fewer incidents everyday compared to the same period last year (anti-social behaviour also fell by 12 per cent last year). With such impressive figures it shows that if every authority in the country could use their ingenuity as much as Bedfordshire then they can still make the cuts without affecting frontline services.

Local Conservative Police and Crime Commissioner Candidate Jas Parmar, has welcomed a fall in overall crime in Bedfordshire last year and said at a recent meeting in Kempston: "These official figures are a welcome sign of the good work Bedfordshire Police are doing, fighting crime locally but Labour refuse to accept that it is possible to find efficiencies and better ways of working. Bedfordshire Police have shown that you can protect the frontline and cut crime while reducing police budgets and reforming policing."

"They should be congratulated but all we get from Labour is cheap opportunism about privatisation and cuts. My priority is simple: to cut crime by tackling antisocial behaviour, slashing the red-tape which stops the police fighting crime and being a strong voice for local people and victims."

"Over the next few months I will be out and about, listening to local people's concerns about crime and policing and setting out how I plan to bring local crime down even more in the future."

John Young
Chairman of Luton Conservative Association

Loss of officers 'detrimental' to the frontline

SIR - I welcome the explanation provided by the chairman of the police authority, Peter Conniff, that they intend the proportion of the workforce in frontline roles to increase as reported in Luton on Sunday (August 5).

Nonetheless I maintain the position today is that the loss of 85 police officers in Bedfordshire over the last two years has been detrimental to the frontline.

For example, elsewhere in the same Luton on Sunday (Muslim Police Officer and his Ramadan fast) PC Sajid Saddique explained: "With the number of officers down it's a lot tougher especially when your energy is low," and he certainly isn't the first Bedfordshire Police officer I've heard of who says the loss of personnel makes the job harder. Furthermore I think any reasonable person would view the effective abandonment of Neighbourhood Policing by Bedfordshire Police as a cut to the frontline and an inevitable consequence of such a large reduction in the establishment.

It will certainly be a challenge to improve the situation when HM Inspector of Constabulary projects a further fall in Police numbers by 2015.

But I have no wish to criticise Bedfordshire Police or the police authority in how they grapple with the massive reductions being inflicted upon their budget. The culprit is quite clear - it is the Tory-led Government.

And on November 15 the Police & Crime Commissioner election will give Bedfordshire's voters a chance to pass their verdict. Ollie Martins (pictured) Labour Police and Crime Commissioner candidate

Save our green spaces

SIR - I have never felt moved to write to a newspaper about a local development issue, despite everything Luton Borough Council has done to destroy the character of the town where I was born, grew up and have chosen to live for most of my adult life.

However, the recently-revealed plans to build houses, a school and a nursing home on the Barnfield playing field is the final straw.

These plans only came to public attention in late July, and even then, the only people notified were those living immediately adjacent to the playing field site.

The cynical timing of the release of these plans, when most people would be setting off on their summer holidays, and the deadline of August 6 for public objections to be raised, strongly suggests that the council, in collaboration with Barnfield Federation, were hoping to sneak this out under the public radar.

Once the deadline has passed, no residents of the town can object to these plans.

Fortunately, public anger in the area around Barnfield College has resulted in an extension of this deadline until August 31.

My reason for writing is that this proposed development will not just affect the local residents but the whole town.

If this plan goes ahead, the town will lose one of the few remaining large green open spaces where children and adults can play sports, both organised and informal.

One only has to drive past the site on a summer evening, or any weekend throughout the year, to see that the playing field and its pitches are well used, and many of these users will have come from across the town, not just the immediate local area.

Naturally, the development plan includes a 'Playing Field Mitigation Strategy' but I urge people who use these playing fields to study the plans to see whether they believe that the proposals will meet the future needs of the local population for green open spaces on which to play sports.

Once this open space has been built upon it will be lost for ever.

It should also be borne in mind that the Barnfield Federation is aiming to become the first 'for profit' educational body in the country.

Not only will the open space be lost, but residents should ask themselves how long the replacement pitches described in the Mitigation Strategy are likely to remain freely accessible to those who live in he town.

If you live in Luton and want to see this valuable open space protected, I urge you to write to Luton Council, your local councillor and your MP before the deadline of August 31.

Spell before you can run

SIR - Should our kids be inspired to take up sport because of the Olympics. Yes, why not.

But first, let's teach them how to read, write and spell properly. At the moment, our highly paid teachers seem unable to achieve this.

Only then, if kids want to throw a javelin, or jump into a sand pit, so be it.

Nominate top curries

SIR - Can I appeal to your readers for help? We have had reports recently from various parts of the country that some restaurants are falsely claiming in their advertising or other promotional material to be winners of a British Curry Award.

The Awards are the 'Oscars' of our industry and the ultimate accolade for those who win them. The Awards dinner itself is the biggest event of the year in the hospitality industry calendar.

So it's unfair both on our genuine winners and restaurant customers throughout the UK if some seek to gain advantage by claiming to be something they are not.

A list of winners from the last seven years can be found on our website at www.britishcurrywawards.co.uk and I would urge your readers to report to us any restaurant that is erroneously claiming past success so that we can take action against them.

They can do so by emailing us at info@britishcurrywawards.co.uk

On a more positive note, the nomination process for the 2012 British Curry Awards is now open and anyone can put forward a restaurant for consideration.

Last year an amazing 2,700 restaurants were entered for the awards from a record 68,000 public nominations.

So if you have a favourite curry restaurant that you think is deserving of recognition, please let us know.

Nomination forms are available on our website and will be accepted up to September 24. The winners will be announced at the Battersea Evolution, London, on November 26.

THIS is refreshing news about Marsh Farm and it seems a positive start for the new Futures building. The new owners appear to be focusing quite well on things that are much relevant to meet the needs of local residents unlike the previous Marsh Farm Trust which was deaf and remained so for ten years even though it was run by residents board. Keep up the good work and let's give credit when it's due rather being negative. Peter Slate

A COUNCILLOR claims that the road-works to make a street look more pleasant are affecting businesses' profits.

The 'streetscaping' work is being undertaken to provide a bus lane in Court Drive, Dunstable, as part of the Luton Dunstable Houghton Regis Guided Busway.

According to Central Bedfordshire Council, it is hoped the scheme will also 'enhance the general street environment and reduce the amount of visual clutter and obstacles'.

The work began in mid-April and is expected to conclude in November. But Independent Councillor Julian Murray (pictured), who represents Dunstable Northfields, said: "I've been contacted by local business owners who say that their takings are down by as much as half since these works began."

"I'm all for making improvements to Dunstable, but how can we be improving the shopping experience and street environment when these established shops may no longer be there when the works are completed."

"They are really struggling. I can understand what the plans were trying to do, but Court Drive was the wrong place to do this." Central Beds Councillor Brian Spurr said: "Ultimately the Court Drive scheme is about creating an attractive and more open space and is part of wider plans to make the area more appealing to shoppers – which will benefit businesses in the long term."

"We are doing everything we can to lessen the short term impact of the road works on local businesses."

"We are continuing to keep people informed about the roadworks and most importantly have invested in making sure that residents know that these shops are open for business. Traffic is flowing fine through the area and there is no reason to not support local shops."

Library set for official launch

HOUGHTON REGIS Library is back open for business after an upgrade.

The new facilities at the Bedford Square building will be officially launched on Wednesday and will include a 'Create a Book Backdrop' with artist Wendy Briggs and takes place from 10am-11am.

There will also be a demonstration of the self-service equipment and the chance to join library staff in some light refreshments.

This refurbishment was the first in a series planned by Central Bedfordshire Council as part of its 15-year scheme to modernise libraries.

The building was upgraded and new self-service technology installed.

These self-service desks allow customers to scan in books and other items they want to borrow, return or renew, meaning library staff can spend more of their time helping customers.

It is now also equipped with refreshment facilities and a read and relax area, all as a direct result of customer feedback into the council's Libraries for the Future consultation.

Councillor Brian Spurr said: "We really believe that the improvements to Houghton Regis library will help make the service more efficient and will free up library staff to spend more time helping customers."

Gaming record attempt

THE UNIVERSITY of Bedfordshire will host a world record attempt next month when a computing giant and an online college attempt to hold the largest game jam held in a single location.

Experts from Microsoft will team up with students from Train2Game which runs from September 14-16 at the university's three computer labs at the Park Street campus.

They will form development teams and create Metro style videogames in 48 hours for Microsoft's new Windows 8 operating system, which is scheduled for release on October 26.

The world record will be set with a target of 301 or more participants and representatives from The Guinness Book of World Records will be present to adjudicate the event.

Games completed during the record attempt deemed suitable for release will be available through the Windows Store. A judging process will then take place with gaming industry representatives choosing the best game of the show.

Carsten Maple, the university's Pro Vice Chancellor for Research and Enterprise, said: "The university works closely with the games industry and is delighted to host this exciting, record-breaking event."

Olympics has given us so many reasons to be happy

THE new football season kicks off in earnest next weekend - and I don't know whether to cheer or cry for the beautiful game.

Summer has been a washout of near biblical proportions, but in sporting terms the last few weeks have made this great nation the sunshine capital of the world.

The Olympics has rescued us from drudgery, lifted the gloom and has reinvigorated our lungs with an enormous blast of fresh air.

It has been wonderful. Magnificent. Awe-inspiring, and yes, if it cost me taxpayers' money, well done for spending it so well. Never could anyone have imagined how this, surely the greatest show on earth, could have captured our hearts or united a population.

Or how at the end of it Britain could have needed something akin to a 60 seater bus to parade its medal heroes, as it surely will. Or how Yorkshire, if it was a country, would have sat above Australia in the gold medals table.

We have loved it. We have embraced the spirit, applauded the effort, comforted the losers and roared home our heroes.

I almost fell out of my seat and made myself hoarse urging Mo Farah to glory in the 10,000m. What a performance, what a star ... yes they all were.

Every single one, winner or loser, a true hero. I watched the women's 10,000m and a friend said they felt sorry for two runners who were lapped by the eventual medal winners.

They finished with huge smiles on their faces in around 10th or 11th place. I'd settle for that amidst a population of seven billion. It was truly a case of the taking part that counted, as it was for so many people who let their disappointment at losing fester for just a few seconds - then rise to light up the sky at the appreciation of being part of a very special occasion.

It was sad, and somewhat predictable, that the only petulance came on, yes you guessed it, the football field.

It was sad to see Daniel Sturridge striding off the pitch after GB soccer team's defeat at the hands of South Korea.

The man who missed the vital penalty wasn't so much inconsolable as refusing to be consoled. He almost angrily pushed away attempts from teammates and manager to offer comfort and headed off to wallow in his own misery. It was at that moment my heart sank a little. It was a bit like in the middle of a fun holiday realising you have a dental appointment to have two teeth removed the day you get home. Premier League football is looming, complete no doubt with a new set of issues to rival those largely previously unimaginable ones that made the past season so shameful and painful. Racist allegations,

'stars' earning £150,000 a week going on strike, players in court on criminal charges. There was end to it. And as the glorious Games come to a close tonight, with no doubt as equally breathtaking a closing ceremony as the opening one, football will again take centre stage. That game, with its over-the-top admission prices, obscene wages and disdain for the public will be under scrutiny more than ever. Someone this week likened pro footballers as "the nasty egotistical bankers of sport" I get the drift. Hard to disagree, but I wouldn't tar them all with the same brush. The Olympics has served us superbly with honesty, integrity, performance, endeavour and brought us a feelgood factor you can't buy. It has also ensured our national sport will be under the spotlight more than ever.

It will be interesting to see if the public has the same appetite for the game, maybe the Olympics becomes a pivotal point in our sporting history.

The nation has a whole new breed of superheroes and with it an eager band of new followers keen to emulate their feats.

The last 16 days have been amazing, let's hope the following nine months of soccer can live up to it, or at least not disgrace its memory.

Businesses and charity join forces at event

BUSINESSES enjoyed a breakfast networking event hosted by Age Concern.

Held at Luton's new Ramada Encore Hotel, in Airport Way, on Thursday, the meeting was attended by Luton Mayor Councillor Syd Knight and Luton South MP Gavin Shuker and stressed the benefits of companies interacting with community groups. Age Concern Luton has been seeking to improve its profile and used the occasion to inform organisations of the volunteering opportunities that are linked to the charity's activities.

The event also offered an opportunity for businesses to raise their concerns with both Cllr Knight and Mr Shuker.

Age Concern Luton chief executive Colette McKeaveney said: "We had representatives from more than 40 businesses turn up at the breakfast to learn how they could help support Age Concern."

"It was a fantastic turn out and just shows how keen our community is to help local charities."

Tory blasts Clegg over his 'U-turn'

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

A CONSERVATIVE councillor has spoken out at his fury over Deputy Prime Minister Nick Clegg's decision to drop Liberal Democrat support for reform to the House of Commons.

A review was carried out by the Boundary Commission, which concluded that reducing the overall number of MPs from 533 to 502, and equalising the electorate per MP by changing political borders, would make the election system fairer.

Strongly supported by Mr Clegg, the plan was set to receive Commons approval in time for the next election.

But because there has been no agreement in the House of Lords, Tory Central Bedfordshire Councillor Richard Stay claims Mr Clegg has done a U-turn in pulling his support for Commons reform.

Cllr Stay (pictured), who represents Caddington, said: "This is something I feel very strongly about. "This is a disgraceful situation and if the Prime Minister proceeds with a Commons vote, which I hope he does, it will see Crown Ministers voting against a Government bill.

"Locally this will have a dramatic impact on Bedfordshire Constituencies. More than half of my electoral area is in the Luton South seat, not that Caddington, Slip End and Hyde have a great deal in common with much of Luton."

"These three Parishes plus Kensworth were heading to the Hemel Hempstead seat, which was preferable, up to the point Mr Clegg decided to throw his toys out."

"No agreement also means Nadine Dorries remains incumbent in Mid Beds and all Kelvin Hopkins' many hours of campaigning in Dunstable may be entirely wasted."

AUTISM, or Autistic Spectrum Conditions (ASC) as it is medically known, is a lifelong developmental disability which affects the way a person thinks, communicates and relates to others around them.

For Lauraine Miller and her family, who live in Luton, it has been a significant part of her life since her son, Tony, who is now 16, was diagnosed with the condition in 1998.

She said: "Tony was diagnosed at 15 months. At the time I was working as a part-time support with autistic adults and as soon as I noticed his odd behaviour I knew something was wrong, so I got him checked out.

"It was a quite a shock finding out he was autistic, not only because he has my son, but because I was working with people who suffered from the same thing. It was like a double-whammy."

Early signs of autism include an inability to make eye contact, hand flapping and non-responsiveness. It is hard to diagnose before 24 months but Lauraine's experience made things somewhat easier.

She said: "Most parents would be struggling with accepting any kind of disability but I came to terms with it very quickly because I worked with it.

"One of the first things I did was contact Autism Bedfordshire and they gave me a lot of support and advice.

"They even encouraged me to join the board, initially as a trustee and eventually as the chairman - a position I have held for the past 12 years."

During the early years of Tony's condition the family received a lot of help from the council's autism team and its children's disability team.

It was not until seven years of age that he began to use words and even then it was limited to a repetition of words such as 'juice'.

Currently, Tony communicates using three syllable sentences and uses a number of aids such as makaton, a language programme that helps people communicate using signs and symbols.

Lauraine said: "At that time I was really lucky because I was taught how to work and deal with my son's conditions. It was a fantastic team and I really thank them for their help.

"Although Tony has severe autism, severe learning disabilities, ADHD, OCD and challenging behaviour, he has managed to go through different levels of schooling at special schools.

"He requires 24-hour care, seven days a week and sleeps very little. He is extremely noisy and is on a restricted diet but for the past two-and-a-half years he has insisted on eating Domino's pizza every night."

When the BBC contacted Autism Bedfordshire Lauraine was delighted for the chance to raise awareness and share her experience.

She says around 400 families in Luton live with someone with autism and she hopes the documentary will raise public awareness and empower those struggling with it to seek assistance.

There is a part in the documentary where Tony finally leaves home to go in to full-time care. It is an emotive moment. Lauraine said: "It was the hardest decision we have ever had to make but he comes home often so there is a good balance."

"It's a natural process for him to leave home because all kids eventually do."

"I hesitate to use the word but we can have a normal life now."

"We can now do things with his older brother Jimmy we were never able to and devote more time to other members of the family."

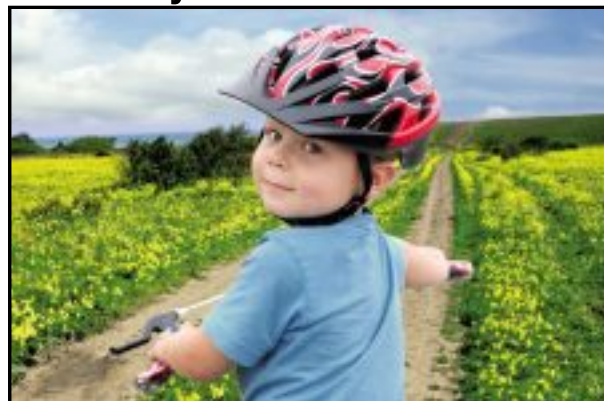

"The whole family had to make so many sacrifices and there comes a time when you have to say you need help. The council were brilliant and supported us all the way through."

"I hope this documentary educates people. I want people to see the struggles families like us have faced and hopefully it will encourage parents to have their children checked out if they think something isn't right with them."

Growing with Autism will be on BBC 4 at 9pm tomorrow night. If you are affected by any of the issues discussed in the programme, or would like to know about autism, visit Autism Bedfordshire at www.autismbedfordshire.net or call 01234 350704.

Fraudster needs to repay £30k benefits

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A BENEFITS cheat is having to repay nearly £30,000 which she stole from taxpayers.

Susan Brown, 47, of Venetia Road, Luton, was sentenced after pleading guilty plea to a charge of dishonestly failing to notify a change in her circumstances while receiving housing and council tax benefit.

Luton Magistrates' Court heard how Brown had claimed benefits from the council as a single person.

But an investigation by Luton Borough Council's Audit and Investigations Team uncovered that Brown had failed to declare she was living with a partner who was supporting her financially.

Brown fraudulently claimed benefits totalling £29,453 and is now having to repay it all to the council.

She received 12 weeks imprisonment, suspended for 12 months, plus a 12 month Community Order with a three month curfew from 9pm to 7am. Cllr Robin Harris, portfolio holder for finance, said: "Remember the old saying 'crime doesn't pay'? It certainly doesn't pay to try to cheat the benefits system."

"In most cases, you will have to return every single penny of the money you steal along with other penalties, including a potential prison sentence, a fine and certainly a criminal record."

Hats off to the Canadian Olympic team

A GROUP of young volunteers were excited to receive their first hat from the Olympic team of Canada, following the launch of their Hat for a Hat cultural exchange scheme.

Re-Created, the Wardown Park Museum youth team, launched the project in conjunction with the opening of their Stories of The World exhibition.

The group contacted the Olympic organising bodies of each nation participating in the London 2012 Games, in the form of a video letter which they filmed and edited.

They asked the Olympic teams to donate a traditional hat from their country, and offered in exchange a traditional English straw boater hat, made by Olney Headwear of Luton.

The Olympic team of Canada were the first to send an item to the volunteers, donating a hat that was worn during the 2010 Winter Olympic Games in Vancouver.

Pilot mortgage scheme starts

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE Luton Mall's Post Office is one of five branches nationwide to be chosen to pilot the use of Mortgage Specialists instore.

According to statistics, Post Office Mortgage applications in the town have doubled in the first half of this year compared with the same period last year, making it an ideal place to trial the scheme.

Specialists will be able to discuss each individual's needs and answer questions to help customers make an informed decision about the suitability of the products.

The Post Office's new mortgage software will enable customers to find out how much they could borrow and view product features and repayments on screen, and follows feedback from customers who felt they would welcome the opportunity to discuss their requirements face to face before committing to a large investment.

Mike Cook, of Post Office Mortgages, said: "We understand that taking out a mortgage is one of the most important financial decisions you have to make."

"Luton's Arndale branch is an ideal first location to start the rollout as we've seen mortgage applications double year-on-year."

"Introducing Mortgage Specialists in Luton will give our customers the assistance they require to help them through what can be a complex process."

To find out more about Post Office Mortgages visit www.postoffice.co.uk, call 0800 077 8033. To view the terms and conditions for the offer, visit www.postoffice.co.uk

SPOOKY GOINGS-ON?: Wardown Park Museum

Town's haunted history features in a new book

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutonsunday.co.uk

AN AUTHOR has written a book about haunted places and ghostly goings-on in Luton.

Paul Adams, of Limbury, Luton, will be releasing 'Haunted Luton & Dunstable' on August 20. In it he details many surprising and scary stories.

According to the author, some of the apparitions spotted in Luton have included a cricketer and a nun, and in one incident a hitch-hiker was picked up before vanishing into thin air.

Paul says has been interested in the paranormal since the age of eight and although he is officially employed as a draftsman at an architectural firm in Hemel Hempstead, he still finds time to look into the 'other side'. He said: "I have been into the paranormal since I went to a house in Dorset when I was younger. People said it was haunted and my interest developed from there.

"There are a lot of similarities between people's experiences.

"I'm not an expert because there are no experts in this field but I do believe in spirits and ghosts.

"In Luton I would probably say Wardown Park Museum has a history of hauntings.

"I've also found that parts of Hockwell Rings has a bit of a history as well - an exorcism happened in one flat there during the early 70s.

"There are also some places in Old Bedford Road where people have said they've seen things."

Award scooped for highlighting shisha dangers

LUTON Borough Council has received a highly commended award from Admedia for its hard-hitting Dangers of Shisha poster campaign.

Using a powerful image of a shisha pipe packed with 200 cigarette butts loosely representing the equivalent of an hour's pipe puffing, the A3 poster appeared in washrooms in bars, clubs, and restaurants across the town, forcibly plugging the message that shisha contains tobacco.

The ongoing campaign is designed to break the commonly held belief that smoking shisha is harmless.

Storyline's weakness is no handicap

BRAVE (PG)

Voice cast: Kelly MacDonald, Billy Connolly, Emma Thompson, Julie Walters, Robbie Coltrane, Kevin McKidd, Craig Ferguson, John Ratzenberger

Running Time: 1hr 40mins

Directors: Brenda Chapman & Mark Andrews

Released next Monday

AFTER Disney/Pixar's biggest collaborative disappointment last year with Cars 2 – they're back doing what they do best with another original gem.

VisitScotland.com has basically been given a free feature-length advert as luscious highlands are brought to life with jaw-dropping computer-generated landscapes that will make you pine for a journey to our northern cousin – if it actually stops chucking it down.

This adventure trails the story of skilled archer Merida (MacDonald) – daughter to Scottish King Fergus (Connolly) and Queen Elinor (Thompson) – who loathes the thought of being pressed into an arranged marriage.

But when she turns to an eccentric old Witch (Julie Walters) in defiance, the kingdom is turned upside down when Merida is granted an ill-fated wish (I won't embellish to save on spoilers!) – and she has to discover the true meaning of bravery to undo a beastly curse.

In this moment lies the weakest point of the film, as the main plot point somehow seems patch-worked into a seemingly thin storyline.

But the heart at the centre of the movie – due in part to fantastic core characters and the truly charming surroundings – pulls it through its shaky middle third to provide a good ol' yarn full of wit, wisdom, and just plain good fun.

It falls a shade short of Pixar's original best – such as Toy Story, Up and Finding Nemo – but sits comfortably alongside the upper echelons of their bountiful library of animated marvels.

Compared to the rest, Disney/Pixar are still king of their domain as this hits its target with considerable ease.

Rocking event to end season

MUSIC

DUNSTABLE ROCKS

Grove House Gardens, Dunstable
Saturday, noon-10pm

WORD on the street is that Dunstable Rocks, the closing event for the town council's summer of music, is going to attract phenomenal crowds.

This event is headlined by legendary soul singer Alexander O'Neal, famous for a wide range of classics which includes 'Criticise', 'Fake', 'Never Knew Love Like This', 'Saturday Love' and 'Secret Lovers'.

O'Neal is reputedly the best pure singer to come from the 80s soul era, releasing a string of memorable hits that are still on radio playlists across the UK to satisfy regular 'radio requests'.

This soul legend has an undying passion to perform.

The event will open with local performances along with bands Subset, The Call Up and Gin House Delta.

Back by popular demand, after a very popular set last year, is exceptional cover band 'Leech' who will once again deliver a string of popular, sing-along, dance-along tunes getting Grove House Gardens up on its party feet.

Keeping the party atmosphere going, Back to Black, the Amy Winehouse Experience, will take up the reins with a performance that encapsulates the look, the mannerisms and the voice of Amy.

'Can You Keep A Secret?' Nathan Moore, lead singer of Brother Beyond, takes to the stage as the final act before the eagerly-awaited Alexander O'Neal.

Brother Beyond's first hit, 'The Harder I Try' made number two in the charts.

There will also be a variety of good quality food on sale and the BarWorx bar will be there to supply both alcoholic and soft drinks.

Bear in mind only a reasonable amount of alcohol will be permitted on site and due to the enormous crowds expected at this event, it will not be permissible to erect gazebos or picnic tables because of lack of space.

Entry for this event is free.

A kind of magic

WHAT'S ON

FILM SEASON

The Alban Arena, St Albans
Wednesday-Saturday, various times

THINGS finally heat up in Magic Mike (15) when male stripper Magic Mike (Channing Tatum) has everything he could ever want - parties that last all night, hot girls and superfluous money.

He takes a younger performer under his wing and teaches him the ropes on how to be the best.

As he keeps at the top of the game in the clubs, Mike struggles with trying to develop a relationship with a girl he really likes.

This is showing on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at 8pm on each day.

Friends With Kids (15) is a daring and poignant ensemble comedy about a close-knit circle of friends at that moment in life when children arrive and everything changes.

The last two singles in the group observe the effect that kids have had on their friends' relationships and wonder if there's a better way.

They decide to have a kid together - and date other people. There are big laughs and unexpected emotional truths as this unconventional 'experiment' leads everyone in the group to question the nature of friendship, family and, finally, true love.

It is showing on Wednesday at 8pm and Thursday and Saturday at 5pm.

Tickets for films matinees are £5 and for evenings £7 or £5 for concessions. Contact the box office on 01727 844488 or book online at www.alban-arena.co.uk

Olympics 2012: Closing Ceremony BBC1, 9pm

If the opening ceremony is anything to go by, we're in for a real humdinger when it comes to London 2012's grand finale. Certain aspects appear in each such ceremony, including the symbolic handing over of the Olympic flag to the next host of the summer games, the march of the athletes and the extinguishing of the Olympic flame. But there's also a show involving more than 4,000 volunteers. But it's the big-name performers we're most interested in. Rumour has it that the Spice Girls will reform.

THE OLD SCHOOL HOUSE, STUDHAM GUIDE PRICE £750,000

The Old School House offers a fantastic opportunity for someone to acquire a Historic property in the picturesque Village of Studham. The original cottage dates back to the mid-17th Century and was built as a baking house for the Brownlow Ashridge Estate. It was later extended to incorporate the adjacent School House around 1850 forming the impressive main building that we can still see today. During the mid-20th Century a new school was built and the building was converted into a private dwelling, which was later sold to the current family in the 1970's. The property is currently split into two separate dwellings with the original cottage forming the heart of the main family home, whilst the Old School is currently utilised out as a separate annex. There is potential to incorporate the annex into the main home to form an imposing single dwelling suitable for a growing family, alternatively it is ideal for anyone looking for an annex for an elderly parent, or a holiday let to provide an additional source of income. The property comprises of substantial accommodation, within the main house there are 3 reception rooms, kitchen/breakfast room, utility and cloak rooms, a cellar, 4 bedrooms and a bathroom, whilst the annex comprise of a lounge/diner, kitchen, cloakroom, 3 additional bedrooms and a bathroom. The outside of the house boasts 2 garages with landscaped gardens and is situated at the bottom of a no through road, adjacent to open countryside and overlooking Studham Common.

GALLIC FLAIR

Not your run-of-the-mill family hatchback, the Citroën C4 piles on the technology and includes some unorthodox styling features but it all hangs together rather well. It's a car that had become a rather forgotten choice until the introduction of this second generation version, which aimed to change things with sleeker styling, much improved quality and a range of more efficient engines. It still isn't a French Golf. Actually, it's more interesting than that.

Though it doesn't look it, this car is quite a bit bigger than its first generation predecessor, around 5cm longer (at 4.33-metres) and also a couple of centimetres longer and wider. The really impressive thing though is that, thanks to a stringent weight-saving campaign, it's no heavier. That's quite an achievement, especially bearing in mind all the presumably quite heavy safety kit that has enabled this C4 to achieve a five-star NCAP rating for crash safety.

This C4 sits in much the same £15,000 to £20,000 bracket as its predecessor but claims to offer much of a big-car feel to suit downsizers. On the road, Citroëns have always prioritised comfort over handling but the spec sheet suggests that this one may well serve up a slightly more dynamic experience than its predecessor, without compromising the relaxed demeanour which has always marked this car out. You'll need to be after a 1.6-litre engine since the whole of the mainstream range is based around powerplants of that size, in petrol form developing 96, 120 and 155PS, while the diesels deliver 90, 110 and 150PS.

There's plenty of transmission choice too - the usual five and six-speed manuals and a four-speed auto, plus a clever six-speed clutchless manual

Active Luton aces making their mark

ATHLETICS

ATHLETICS in the town is on the up, with several runners who have come through the Active Luton now making great strides in the sport and pushing for international honours.

Over the past two years, Sabrina Bakare, Dereece O'Callahan and Jamal Lewis have all been called up to represent England in 300m, 400m and cross country respectively.

O'Callahan (intermediate 400m silver) and Lewis (junior 800m bronze) also earned medals at this year's English School Track and Field Championships in Gateshead.

Active Luton chief executive Helen Barnett said: "These are fantastic achievements by some really talented young people so we are delighted that the hard work put into our programmes and initiatives is proving worthwhile."

"The programmes are designed to get more young people participating in athletics so they can go on to achieve their very best."

"I hope we can build on these successes, as well as Great Britain's achievements in the Olympics, by getting many more young people involved in athletics locally."

The athletics programmes take place at Stockwood Park Athletics Centre, as well as schools and other community venues in Luton.

The Luton Schools Athletic Cup has also been developed to provide more competitive opportunities for secondary school children in the town.

Racers are rarin' to go

MOTOR RACING

TEAM ES Racing return to action in the British Touring Car Championship today at Snetterton after the series' traditional seven-week summer break.

The Luton-based team have not turned a wheel in anger since the last round at Croft on June 24, although they will be hoping for a better weekend than the one in North Yorkshire.

Drivers Chris James and Dave Newsham failed to crack the top ten in any of the three races, with their best result being a 12th place for Newsham in race two.

Newsham has since voiced his fears that the ES Racing Vauxhall Vectras, running under the old S200 regulations, will struggle to keep up with those that are using Next Generation Touring Car spec vehicles in the second half of the season.

IT'S THERE! Jon Shaw pulls one back for Hatters

Fleetwood spares blushes of Hatters

GATESHEAD 2

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.com

IF THE cliché 'it's a game of two halves' was written to describe any game, it was this fascinating season's opener.

After finding themselves facing a two goal deficit after 45 minutes, following an inexplicably poor performance, the Hatters did well to force their way back into the game.

What looked like a lost cause was salvaged by strikes from summer signing Jon Shaw and Stuart Fleetwood who spared the blushes of the home side.

Starting well, it took only two minutes for JJ O'Donnell to get Town's first and only shot of the half on target. The youngster, who was making his first league start for the club, did well to muscle his way into a good position, but the resulting strike was a tame effort that the keeper Adam Bartlett easily saved.

Despite the impressive pre-season campaign and the numerous additions to the squad over the summer, manager Paul Buckle had warned that this would be no easy game and Gateshead made sure that it wasn't.

Although the Hatters held the majority of early possession, the visitors' defence did well to stifle the pace and guile of Andre Gray, and close down any opportunity of a forward run that they tried to make.

Increasingly working their way into the game, it was Gateshead that made the breakthrough in the 25th minute.

Ex-Hatters loanee Liam Hatch did well to score from a left-wing corner as the Hatters' defence desperately tried to hack the ball away.

Buoyed by their goal, the visitors began to excel as the shell shocked Luton side lost their shape and focus.

Just ten minutes later Gateshead doubled their lead, a 35 yard strike from Yemi Odubade enough to loop over the goalkeeper and find the back of the net

The Tynesiders could have had a third on the stroke of half time as Josh Gillies got on the end of a Hatch header, but Tyler did well to save the effort.

After leaving the pitch to a chorus of boos, Paul Buckle made a statement of intent at the beginning of the second half with two immediate substitutions.

The introduction of target man and former Gateshead player Jon Shaw brought the Hatters back to life, and indeed it was the striker that gave the home side a way back into the game, with a lunging close range effort following a Stuart Fleetwood pass.

The goal lifted the spirits of the fans and players alike and signalled the beginning of a period of Luton dominance. Playing with a new found confidence it was Fleetwood who got Luton's equaliser, blasting home a cross from O'Donnell following a Scott Rendell corner.

After working his way into the box Adam Watkins could have scored the winner five minutes from time, but his powerful strike was stopped by Barlett.

At the other end, Tyler did well to get a single glove to a long range strike from Hatch and tip it over the bar.

There may be a dent left in the optimism that had surrounded the club before this game, but no one can fail to be impressed with the fighting spirit showed by the team to ensure a share of the spoils in the second half.

Luton will now make the trip to Kidderminster Harriers on Tuesday evening, hoping to get that elusive first win under their belt sooner rather than later.

Luton Town: Mark Tyler, Lathaniel Rowe-Turner, Greg Taylor (Jon Shaw), Janos Kovacs, Scott Rendell, Jake Howells, Stuart Fleetwood, JJ O'Donnell, Yaser Kasim (Alex Lawless), Ronnie Henry (C), Andre Gray (Adam Watkins).

County staring at wooden spoon

BEDFORDSHIRE go into next weekend's final round of Minor Counties Championship matches rooted at the bottom of the Eastern Division table, writes Lance Christopher.

Only a win over Norfolk at Luton will save them from the ignominy of collecting the wooden spoon for the second season in a row.

There were high hopes that this young Bedfordshire side would make big strides, but recent results have gone from bad to worse.

Having been walloped by Cumberland in their previous match, Bedfordshire went down by eight wickets to Buckinghamshire at Slough on Tuesday.

Steve Stubbings and James Kettleborough put on 104 for the first wicket after Bedfordshire had won the toss, but it proved to be a false dawn.

Kettleborough went for 62 and after that Stubbings could only watch as wickets tumbled at the other end.

Stubbings was magnificent. He was undefeated on 125 when he was struck in the face and forced to retire.

With him went any chance that Bedfordshire might bat the full 90 overs allowed in the first innings for the first time in more than two seasons. They were all out for 252 from 85.3 overs.

Buckinghamshire were left to score just 87 for victory.

Indians back to top of table

LUTON Town & Indians are back on top of the Bedfordshire County Cricket League Premier Division and will be aiming to cement their place there when they travel to Ickwell today.

Indians stole a march on their title rivals by winning away to Southill Park in a rain-shortened contest last Sunday, comfortably chasing down the target of 110.

Buckle warns Hatters: I will not stand for that

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutonsunday.com

"I WON'T stand for that type of performance."

That was the message from Luton Town manager Paul Buckle following their 2-2 draw with Gateshead on the first day of the new Conference season.

The Hatters had found themselves facing a two goal deficit at half time but managed to fight back with strikes from Stuart Fleetwood and substitute Jon Shaw to earn a point.

Speaking after the game Buckle said: "We were hoping for all three points but it didn't happen.

"We were nowhere near the levels we were showing in pre-season and the levels I expect, and we've paid the price and made life very difficult for ourselves.

"The problem was that we were keeping the ball in total control but didn't deliver crosses in the final third.

"We were really reluctant to do that and seemed to want to find a really safe easy route to goal and score the perfect goal. It doesn't happen like that.

"You can't always get what you want but the problem with us today was we took too long with things and not only that, the set play was just typical of last season and what I saw when I first came to the club - I won't put up with that type of performance.

"At half time the staff and I had a long chat because it wasn't good enough, and we made the right changes to get ourselves out of a hole."

Asked whether Jon Shaw should have started the game, Buckle said: "I signed Shaw to play, but he's only played 45 minutes of football in pre-season.

"Fleetwood and Gray have been doing well, so there has been no reason to rush Jon back.

"But we were so lacklustre and lacked any purpose on the pitch that I had to make the change."

Despite the poor first half, the manager said he was pleased with the spirit shown in the second.

He said: "This has been an eye opener for me, but the pleasing thing is that we pulled it back.

"It would have been easy to go under, but we showed fight and spirit.

"I made the right changes and the lads responded and once the first goal went in the place shook and the atmosphere changed."

With little respite between now and the away game at Kidderminster on Tuesday, Buckle said there was still time to put things right.

"We will train on Monday, we can't do loads but I can hammer home the importance of giving away free headers from corners and conceding soft goals."
